many, France, Ireland and the Scandinavian countries got most of the quota numbers.

For the first time, the 1965 act also placed a ceiling on immigration from the Western Hemisphere, a provision put in by Congress over the vigorous opposition of the State Department.

In place of the old quota system, the 1965 act set up a series of preference categories—the highest preference being given to the immediate relatives of persons already in the United States—within which visas would be granted in accordance with names of a waiting list.

The new program was phased in over a three-year period and howls of protest began to arise almost immediately after the 1968 deadline was reached.

Among the loudest came from Ireland, which never came close to using up the big quota it enjoyed under the old system. It thus had no waiting list and was being largely shut out by the first come, first served policy of the new law.

Court Death Ruling Penalty Is Questioned

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chief Justice Warren E. Burger questioned today whether the Supreme Court should take on the job of establishing jury standards for the imposition of the death penalty.

In fact, the chief justice suggested, the high court might leave the problem of whether there should be any standards at all to state legislatures.

Burger raised these points as the court heard argument in an Arkansas death case that could determine the fate of hundreds of condemned men and women.

His suggestion was rejected flatly by Anthony G. Amsterdam, a Stanford University law professor who represents William L. Maxwell, a Negro condemned to die in an Arkansas rape.

Four Killed in Kent U. Campus Rally

KENT, Ohio (AP) — Four persons were killed and at least 11 wounded by gunfire as Ohio National Guardsmen broke up an unauthorized rally on the campus of Kent State University today.

There were unconfirmed reports that two of the dead were guardsmen.

Student witnesses said guardsmen had dispersed the rally with tear gas, but were being harassed by demonstrators.

Witnesses said the shootings came after guardsmen dispersed a crowd of 400 to 500 demonstrators on Kent's Commons area. They said the students had thrown rocks at the troops and hurled back tear gas canisters.

University officials said the shootings came after the crowd had dispersed and some demonstrators had run behind Taylor Hall where they were met by guardsmen and Kent police.

Teamsters Are Divided on Strike

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Striking Teamsters Union members across the nation are divided on whether to end their wildcat trucking strike and return to work.

Dissident truckers in Los Angeles voted overwhelmingly over the weekend to reject a tentative national contract and St. Louis Teamsters reaffirmed their decision to remain on strike. However, Teamsters in Cleveland decided to go back to work today.

About 6,000 striking Cleveland drivers were expected back on their jobs after a vote of 951 to 378 Sunday to end their strike.

ELECTIONS (from page one)

Howard Metzbaum, 52, a wealthy Cleveland attorney who has waged a well-financed campaign.

Republicans in Ohio will choose between Rep. Robert Taft Jr., heir to the state's most famous political name, and Gov. James A. Rhodes.

Indiana also holds a primary Tuesday, but with no national note of drama. None of the 11 incumbent congressmen—seven Republicans and four Democrats—faces any apparent serious challenge. Republicans won't choose a candidate to run against Democratic Sen. Vance Hartke, until a June 19 convention.

The voting this week put the 1970 election year into high gear with primaries and nominating conventions scheduled week after week until October, leading to the Nov. 3 general elections.

In Alabama, the claim that the 300,000 registered Negro voters would play the pivotal role in the gubernatorial race was made by Joe Reed, chairman of the predominantly black Democratic Conference and one of 14 Negroes running for the now all-white state legislature.

Newspapers on Campuses Seek Strike

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Campus newspapers across the country planned to call today for a nationwide student strike to protest American military actions in Cambodia and the recent bombing of North Vietnam.

Strikes already have been declared at Princeton, the University of Pennsylvania, Sarah Lawrence and Bryn Mawr, and strike plans were reported under way at Notre Dame, Brandeis University and Stanford.

A national strike committee of delegates from the campuses was being convened for a meeting at George Washington University tonight to coordinate policy.

The New Mobilization Committee to End the War in Vietnam, also working toward a national student strike, called for a massive rally in Washington Saturday to demand immediate withdrawal of U.S. troops from Southeast Asia.

The common strike editorial scheduled for publication today in student newspapers was drawn up Sunday at Columbia University by editors of 11 major Eastern colleges. Six were present and others participated by telephone.

The editorial accuses President Nixon of ignoring "the constitutional prerogatives of Congress" by sending troops into Cambodia. Nixon, the editors wrote, "has revealed the sham of his policy of Vietnamization."

The editorial says "a massive, unprecedented display of dissent is required."

Drafting the editorial were editors from Columbia, Cornell, Rutgers, Bryn Mawr, Sarah Lawrence and the University of Pennsylvania. Endorsements quickly came from Harvard, Princeton, Dartmouth, Brown and Haverford.

lenged in the primary by the powerful Hudson County Democratic organization, and his defeat would probably make things easier for likely Republican candidate Nelson Gross.

In California, favored Rep. John Tunney is undergoing a stiff challenge from Rep. George Brown in the June 2 Democratic senatorial primary. Most of the state's Democratic leaders think Tunney, the son of former boxing champion Gene Tunney, has a much better chance than Brown of defeating Republican incumbent George Murphy.

Russia Lashes U.S. Operation in Cambodia

MOSCOW (AP) — Premier Alexei N. Kosygin today condemned the U.S. military operations in Cambodia and warned that the Soviet Union "will draw the appropriate conclusions from such a line of action."

The Soviet leader, in an unusual maneuver, called a news conference to present the Soviet Union's reaction to events in Indochina.

"To the heavy responsibility borne by the United States for the war against the Vietnamese people is added a responsibility for the aggression it committed against the people of Cambodia," Kosygin's formal statement said.

"It goes without saying that the Soviet government will draw appropriate conclusions for its policy from such a line of action by the United States in Southeast Asia."

Kosygin appeared to attempt to rally the Communist world against the American campaign in Southeast Asia when he said that "all states which hold dear the interests of peace and freedom ... must display a high sense of responsibility for the

Court Rules Favorable to the Insured

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas Supreme Court ruled today that an individual may file a damage suit against the insurance company that issued a liability policy covering the city of Little Rock.

The ruling stemmed from a case resulting from an injury April 12, 1968, to H. Gordon Gregson who fell while in the clubhouse at Rebsamen Park Golf Course.

Gregson sustained back and spinal injuries and on Jan. 17, 1969, he and his wife filed suit against the city and the architect of the clubhouse.

The Gregsons contended the injury resulted from negligence on the part of the architect and the city, which was operating the golf course.

Circuit Court Judge Warren Wood overruled the city's contention that municipalities were immune to damage suits, but the Gregsons subsequently learned that Great American Insurance Co. had issued a liability policy on the city. The Gregsons filed a new suit naming the company as a defendant.

Great American contended that state law did not permit a direct suit against an insurance carrier if the insured municipality is itself subject to damage suits, and Wood ruled in the company's favor. The Gregsons appealed.

The Supreme Court, in an opinion written by Associate Justice Frank Holt, upheld the contention of the Gregsons that the decision making the city subject to damage suits related only to the original lawsuit and was not binding when the new suit was filed to include the company as a defendant.

Individual Political Action Needed

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP) — Rep. David Pryor, D-Ark., said here Saturday that political action by individuals was necessary.

Pryor spoke to about 175 teachers attending the Political Action Clinic for Teachers.

"We want to help, and unless we see an S.O.S. flashed across the scene, we take it as general disinterest of the people," Pryor said.

He said that the trend in American politics is for voters to no longer contact their elected officials to voice an opinion,

VOWS EXCHANGED

Miss Linda E. Smith of Texarkana became the bride of L.D. Dick E. Willis of Hope Saturday evening, April 11 in the Shiloh Baptist Church at Texarkana. Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Earl Smith of London and Mr. and Mrs. Elston Willis of Hope. Grandparents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. Jessie Burke of DeAnn.

The Rev. Ralph Burke of Dallas, Tex., uncle of the groom, was the officiating minister. Mrs. Joel Harris of Texarkana presented a program of wedding music and accompanied Miss Barbara Hankins of Star City, who sang "The Voice That Breathed O'er Eden" and "O Perfect Love." Calvin Willis of Hope, brother of the groom, and Tommy Still of Arcadia, La., lighted the candles and also served as ushers.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white lace street-length dress with a high neckline and bell sleeves. A lace band with seed pearls held her elbow-length veil. She carried a bouquet of white gladioli and feathered pink carnations tied with pink and white satin streamers.

Mrs. Gaines White of Russellville was her sister's matron of honor. She wore a deep pink Empire-Style knit dress and carried a bouquet of spring flowers. Elston Willis served his son as best man.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Smith chose a mint green dress with three-quarter-length jacket and black patent accessories. The groom's mother, Mrs. Willis, wore a yellow knit dress with yellow accessories. Each planned a white corsage at her shoulder.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the church fellowship hall. Serving at the reception were Miss Liz Cureton of Rogers and Miss Poleda Glanton of Hope, cousin of the groom. Also assisting with the reception were Miss Gay Burke of Hope, cousin of the groom, Mrs. Ronnie Bell of Texarkana,

HELEN HELP US!

by Helen Bottel

WOMEN'S LIB: CAN THE GALS WIN?

Dear Helen: I've been reading a lot about Women's Liberation lately. At first I brushed these gals off as "militant feminists," but then I got to thinking: If it hadn't been for those other M.F.s, women would still have no vote.

Even now, the bloomed females of that long-ago fight bring smiles to men's faces, and the worst insult you can hand a woman is to call her "one of those feminist nuts."

Yet haven't reformers down through history been classified as "nuts" until people realized they were right? They must resort to all sorts of show-off actions so that the public will become aware of their cause.

Instead of laughing at the Women's Lib groups, we other gals should be grateful. They're going to win us a lot of "rights" we need but are too lethargic to fight for. They're taking the bricks while we stand to reap the benefits.

From now on, when my husband or any other man makes snide remarks about "the unfeminine feminists" I'll say, "Bully for the gals!" Maybe I don't really care whether men's bars are opened to women or not, but I certainly won't mind being paid the same wages for the same kind of work—which I might possibly do better than my male co-workers.—QUIET FEMINIST

Dear Q.F.: Already Women's Lib has progressed from little fun-poking newspaper items to cover stories in national magazines. I feel as you do, Q.F.: Much of what they ask is long overdue, but I'm still not for total equality. Women would lose more than they gain in a society that made no differentiation between the sexes.—H.

Dear Helen: I'll consider that Women's Lib has won the day when we hear about husband-swapping clubs, instead of wife swapping clubs.—BERT

Dear Helen: My wife and I have been married 10 years. We have four fine children, and all the good things that a high salary can bring. We're consid-

BROWNIE TROOP MEETS

Brownie Troop 63 visited the Hempstead County Courthouse April 30 accompanied by Mrs. Hildred May, leader, Mrs. Galen May, assistant leader, and Mrs. Charles Stone. Seventeen Brownies and 3 friends were shown the courtroom, the County Clerk's Office and the Sheriff's office.

Mrs. Pat House showed them the record room in the clerk's office, and Mrs. Leon Neal guided them through a tour of the jail. The Brownies, their friends and the accompanying adults were grateful for all the courtesies shown them.

CELEBRATE BIRTHDAY

Jae Renea Frazier celebrated her 4th birthday April 30 with a party at Fair Park given by her mother, Mrs. J.S. Frazier. Twelve young people played games, were given party favors and were served a Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs birthday cake. Assisting Mrs. Frazier in serving were Mrs. H.H. Tippitt, grandmother of the honoree, and Mrs. Eugene Cornelius.

Besides the birthday girl, others enjoying the occasion despite the stormy weather were: Joy Winer, Rusty Chism, Joey Frazier, Leslie Cornelius, Gena Holt, Melody Williams, Britt Williams, William Poole, Terri Tippitt, Chad Cornelius and Michelle Abbott.

dered the perfect couple. But we're miserable with each other. Bored speechless.

We've discussed this and have decided not to part, as going our separate ways would be impractical for business and personal reasons.

But we feel that we should each have a reprieve from monotony. For me, this is easy: I can go to a bar, make the scene as a semi-bachelor with no questions asked. But a woman like my wife doesn't care for those "singles bars."

Could you please send us the addresses of a few clubs, like Parents Without Partners, where she could meet somebody for her little fling? Discreetly, that is.—HELPLESS HUSBAND

Dear H. Husband: Sorry, Parents Without Partners and other such clubs are for singles only; bored wives would be as welcome as a mortgage foreclosure.

You two won't solve anything with "discreet" flings. Either make it together or break it off completely but don't use marriage as a respectable cover-up for hanky panky. You'll fool no one, including your children!—H.

NATIONAL MUSIC WEEK PROCLAMATION

WHEREAS, music plays an increasingly important role in our world today; and

WHEREAS, music is one of the most sublime of human pursuits and is subscribed to by all races and creeds; and

WHEREAS, music is the language of all peoples and one of the greatest forces in creating peace and harmony; and

WHEREAS, the National Federation of Music Clubs—dedicated to encouraging young musicians to increasing musical knowledge, and to advancing American music and its cooperating organizations to join forces to direct attention to the dynamic influence of music in everyday living;

NOW, THEREFORE, I, Frank Douglas, Mayor of Hope, Arkansas, do hereby proclaim the week of May 3-10, 1970 as National Music Week and ask that all citizens of this community observe and take part in activities, recognizing the importance of music, musicians and musical organizations to the cultural life of our City, State, Nation, and World.

Television and Radio

NEW YORK (AP) — Network television demonstrated its unique strength on two occasions during an otherwise bland weekend of routine programming.

There was the final hour of CBS' three programs edited from 13 hours of talk by Lyndon B. Johnson with Walter Cronkite. It was, from the view of the average citizen, the most interesting of the series because it was most revealing of the man.

There also was ABC's "Unseen World" in which subjects as large as the sun and as small as single cells were observed and explained.

The Johnson interview on Saturday dwelt primarily with circumstances surrounding the assassination of John F. Kennedy and its immediate aftermath. The former president spoke vividly when recalling the 1963 events in Dallas that culminated with a hurried ceremony in which he took his oath of office.

More than once he expressed his feeling that from the moment he became president until he was elected to his own term, he considered himself "the trustee" of John F. Kennedy and sought primarily to carry through the Kennedy program.

He spoke broadly—and persistently refused to name names—of high echelon personnel problems involving Kennedy appointees.

Cronkite asked: "Was it a Coming, Going

Mrs. William B. Attebery, Dallas, returned home Saturday after visiting a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Ward.

Going to Jefferson, Tex., for the annual pilgrimage of homes last Friday were Mrs. William B. Attebery, Dallas, Mrs. Edwin Ward, Mrs. R.L. Broach and Mrs. B.C. Hyatt. They were luncheon guests of Dr. and Mrs. Jesse DeWare, whose home was one of those on the tour. Mrs. DeWare and Mrs. Attebery are sisters.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Rounton came home last week from Tallahassee, Fla., where he has been undergoing medical treatment.

Mrs. Elston Willis returned home Friday from Dallas, where she visited Mr. and Mrs. Charles Dudley and new son and with Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Burke and daughter.

cult, was it a clique and did have a political objective was it led by Bobby Kennedy? "I can't answer that question honestly and directly," replied Johnson. "I don't know."

More interesting than his words often was his facial expression as he spoke of the difficult beginnings of his administration. His words were temperate, but at times he looked hurt and angry.

The former president was shown in closeup most of the time, and he did not appear to be very conscious of the camera. The three-part series, with Cronkite as the gentle, well-prepared interviewer, is archival material.

Jules Power, who produced Sunday night's science special, "The Unseen world," has a knack of making complicated subjects easily understood and—more important—interesting.

The star of his program was microphotography. Demonstrated, among many other things, was the complicated construction and function of the eye. We saw the simplest organism and the most complex, accompanied by a clear, concise narration that carried viewers of all ages along.

It was a fine hour of television that stacks up with an earlier Jules Power success, "How Life Begins."

Twins Just Couldn't Believe Loss

By HERSHEL NISSENSEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Baltimore Orioles just aren't believers. They couldn't believe it when they lost the World Series to the New York Mets last year and they couldn't believe Sunday's 4-3 ninth-inning loss to the Minnesota Twins.

Especially since they took the Twins eight games to four in the 1969 regular season and then swept them three straight in the playoffs to win the American League pennant.

"Our whole club has the feeling that we're not supposed to lose to anyone when we come to the park," said Manager Earl Weaver after Harmon Killebrew's two-run homer lifted the Twins to victory and gave them the weekend series two games to one. "When something like this happens, we can't understand it."

Those were the only untainted wins off Jim Palmer. The Twins scored twice in the sixth on a double error by second baseman Dave Johnson. Merv Rettenmund's eight-inning homer gave the Birds a temporary 3-2 lead.

"It's unbelievable Palmer could lose," said catcher Andy Patebarren, another nonbeliever. "I've never seen him throw any better."

Elsewhere in the AL, Detroit edged the Chicago White Sox 5-3, the New York Yankees rallied twice to sweep Milwaukee 4-1 and 4-2, Oakland beat Washington 3-1 before losing 6-4 and Cleveland downed Kansas City 6-3. California at Boston was rained out.

In the National League, Philadelphia swept San Francisco 8-6 in 11 innings and 13-6, Cincinnati slugger Pittsburgh 11-7, the New York Mets defeated San Diego 3-2 after losing 4-3 in 10 innings. Los Angeles trounced Montreal 15-1 and St. Louis turned back Houston 7-4, then lost 8-1. The Chicago Cubs and Atlanta were idled by rain.

The victorious Twins whooped it up in their clubhouse and skipper Bill Rigney observed: "That's a happy group. They feel we've won half as many games against Baltimore as all last year."

"(With Oliva (who singled before Killebrew's homer) and Killebrew on the same club, you never say the game is over until it reaches the locker room."

Home runs by Willie Horton and Al Kaline powered the Tigers past the White Sox in a sloppy game with the teams committing seven errors. Detroit fumbled away three runs and the Sox two before Fred Lasher, the third Tiger pitcher in the ninth, closed out the game with the bases loaded and one run in.

Roy White's two-run double brought the Yankees from behind in the seventh inning of their nightcap after Gerry McNetney's pinch-two-run homer gave Milwaukee a 2-1 lead in the top of the inning.

The Yanks trailed 5-0 in the opener but Bobby Murcer triggered a pair of three-run rallies with a homer and then a bunt single and Gene Michael added three hits, each good for an RBI.

New York won the opener with three runs in the sixth on Murcer's bunt, consecutive triples by Danny Cater and Thurman Munson and Michael's double.

Ed Stroud and Mike Epstein crushed two-run homers in the Senators' nightcap triumph, with Epstein's snapping a 4-4 tie in the seventh. Reggie Jackson's homer and run-scoring doubles by Don Mincher and Felipe Alou accounted for the A's wins in the first game.

Oakland starter Blue Moon Odom reinjured his ailing right elbow while warming up before the first inning of the opener but the umpires made him pitch to one batter. Odom retired Ed Hickman on a grounder, then Roland Fingers took over and pitched five-hit ball the rest of the way.

Palmer Comes Through for the Phillies

By KEN RAPPOPORT

After losing two catchers, manager Frank Lucchesi of the Philadelphia Phillies really had to come up with something.

He did—an iron man relief pitcher who can hit and an infielder who plays the outfield and catches.

The Phillies, who lost catchers Tim McCarver and Mike Ryan to fractures Saturday night, came back Sunday to take a doubleheader from San Francisco 8-6 and 13-6 behind the pitching and hitting of Lowell Palmer and the versatile play of rookie Jim Hutto.

Palmer, who worked two scoreless innings in the opener, allowed four hits and struck out 10 in 8 and 2-3 innings of the nightcap. But that wasn't all. He also stroked three hits, including a three-run double that highlighted the Phillies' six-run fifth.

Hutto sent the opener into overtime with a ninth-inning, game-tying homer. The utility infielder also played left field and behind the plate to relieve the Phillies' catching woes.

Elsewhere in the National League, the Los Angeles Dodgers unleashed their biggest offense of the season, burying Montreal 15-1; Cincinnati outlived Pittsburgh 11-7; the New York Mets spilled San Diego 3-2 in the nightcap of a doubleheader after losing the opener 4-3 and St. Louis and Houston split a twin bill—the Cardinals winning the first game 7-4 and the Astros the second, 8-1. Rain washed out the Chicago-Atlanta game.

In the American League, Cleveland whipped Kansas City 6-3; Detroit turned back Chicago 6-5; Minnesota downed Baltimore 4-3; New York took a doubleheader from Milwaukee 8-7 and 4-2 and Washington took the second game of a doubleheader from Oakland 6-3 after the A's won the opener 3-1. California was rained out at Boston.

Nicklaus in Sudden Death Victory

By DENNE H. FREEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Jack Nicklaus lost the popularity contest and the call from Washington was a wrong number, but he pocketed the $9,000 difference Sunday in a dramatic, sudden-death Byron Nelson Golf Classic victory over athlete of the decade, Arnold Palmer.

"When I found out they wanted Arnie," said Nicklaus who answered the Washington call first, "I just went back out to the green and picked up the championship trophy."

Nicklaus got a $20,000 prize check and the trophy from golf great Nelson himself after a classic 37-hole head-to-head confrontation with Palmer, 10 years his senior.

A tap-in birdie putt on the first extra hole gave Jack the Bomber his first ever sudden-death win over old nemesis and good friend, Palmer, who won $11,000.

Then came the call from Washington. It was Vice President Spiro Agnew on the line. Agnew wanted to speak to golfing buddy Palmer.

"I had played golf with him recently and he wanted to talk about today's round," Palmer said. "There wasn't any slight to Jack intended."

The mild-mannered Nicklaus wasn't miffed. He had played all day with a crowd of some 15,000 following his threesome, most yelling and applauding for Palmer.

"It was like Texas and Ohio State playing (football) in Texas," Nicklaus laughed. "There are damn few Buckeyes down here."

The crowd was estimated at more than 40,000 and about a third dogged the heels of golf's biggest names. They jostled, shoved and yelled.

"Arnie came to me on the sixth green of the second round and said 'I think it's getting out of hand,'" Nicklaus said. "But you are going to have that anytime you play with Arnold. Arnie is a very popular fellow. I don't mind the people yelling and rooting just as long as they don't get rude."

Nicklaus, who got a line-of-sight drop in the rough because of a television tower obstruction on No. 18, said one fan yelled "Awww" when the ruling was made.

"I told him I was sorry," Nicklaus said. "I really shouldn't have taken the drop, I guess. I might have made a par."

Nicklaus bogied the last hole, missing a 21-footer by inches as Palmer knotted it with par.

But Nicklaus made up for it on the Par 5, 555-yard No. 15 with a prime-time national television audience looking on.

He blasted a tremendous drive over the corner of a lake. And he whistled a brassie 267-yards pin high in the right frog hair. Nicklaus got down in two, Palmer took par and it was over.

Palmer and Nicklaus had met in playoffs twice previously but never head-up in sudden death. Nicklaus won the 1962 U.S. Open in a playoff with Palmer.

In 1963, Palmer beat Nicklaus and Julius Boros in another 18-hole playoff for the Western Open.

Nicklaus and Palmer finished the Nelson with six-under par 274s. Both had morning rounds of two-under par 68 and Palmer caught Nicklaus with an afternoon 69 to the Columbus, Ohio better's 71.

Rookie John Schroeder, son of former tennis star Ted Schroeder, played in the Nicklaus-Palmer group and closed with a brilliant 68 and a tie with Lee Trevino for third at 275.

"Schroeder showed great courage to play as well as he did under all that pressure," said Palmer, who admitted his hip ached and his back was sore after the gruelling day.

"That round with Jack was just like old times," Palmer said.

Nicklaus agreed and added "Arnold has earned everything he has. He's made such a great contribution to the game. I just feel fortunate to be a part of it."

California was rained out at Boston.

Lucchesi was characteristically stoic after McCarver fractured his right hand on a foul tip off the bat of Willie Mays and Ryan broke the middle finger on his left hand bumping into Willie McCovey at home.

"We just have to battle harder," he said.

Mike Compton was brought up from the Phillies' farm system Saturday to help fill the void, expected to be three to four weeks. And Sunday, the Phillies said they were recalling catcher Del Bates from Eugene of the Pacific Coast League.

Despite Palmer's heroics Sunday, Lucchesi said, "I'll still stick with him as a long middle inning reliever."

Actually he didn't wait that far into the game to bring him in Sunday. The aspirin-throwing righthander came on in the first inning to relieve starter Woody Fryman and checked the hard-hitting Giants.

In the first game, Hutto, a late-inning substitute, crashed a home-off Giants' reliever Don McMahon to tie the game at 6-6. Then Johnny Briggs hit a homer and Tony Taylor delivered a run-scoring single for the winning runs in the 13th.

The Dodgers for a change scored some runs for pitcher Claude Osteen—and he probably wished they had saved some for a rainy day. During his first three outings this year, Los Angeles wasn't able to score for their star southpaw.

"It feels great to get some runs for a change," said Osteen, who evened his record at 3-3. "It takes a lot of pressure off that you have in a one or two-run game . . . for sure, it was my day."

Billy Grabarkewitz highlighted the Dodgers' 16-hit offense with three hits and five RBIs. John Bench lashed a three-run homer and keyed two rallies with doubles to lead the Cincinnati victory. Jim Merritt, who went 6 and 1-3 innings, picked up his sixth victory—tops in the majors.

Joe Foy doubled home the tie-breaking run in the seventh inning, lifting the Mets to their nightcap victory. The Padres won the opener 3-2. Clarence Gaston drilled a run-scoring single in the 10th inning.

John Edwards' two-run homer and a two-run triple by Keith Lampard keyed a five-run seventh that carried Houston to its second-game win over St. Louis.

Hope Team Qualifies in District

By BILL MOORE
Star Sports Writer

Last Friday night at Arkadelphia the Hope tracksters qualified in district in three events and will now travel to the state meet.

Gary Wheelington finished 3rd in the 200 yard dash with a timing of 23.6.

The 440 and 880 yard relay teams including Ray Wheelington, Gary Wheelington, Artis Martin, and Lee Davis broke the school records for the two events finishing 4th both times.

The 440 relay ran a 44.5 clocking, which clipped the old record of 44.7 by two tenths for second. The 880 relay ran a 1:34.1, eclipsing the old record of 1:34.2 by one tenth of a second.

Both relay teams have been improving each meet and should well be ready by the state meet.

On Tuesday HHS golfers Ralph Routh and Jack Turner travel to Camden for the district match beginning at 9:30.

Today the Hope High School girls softball team begins their schedule by traveling to Nashville. The game will start at approximately 5 o'clock and the girls should have a real good team coached by Mrs. Charlotte Gibson.

'Commander' Takes Over Kentucky Race

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — The Kentucky Derby cup will join those mounted animal heads in the trophy room of big-game hunter Robert E. Lehmann, thanks to Dust Commander, who shot down 16 other 3-year-olds and the odds by winning America's premier horse race.

Now Dust Commander, trained by 31-year-old Don Combs and ridden by Mike Manganello, is expected to go hunting for more of racing's big prizes—the Preakness and the Belmont Stakes, other legs on the Triple Crown.

After Dust Commander's smashing five-length victory over Raymond M. Curtis' favored My Dad George in the 96th Derby at Churchill Downs, Lehmann said that he planned to send the Bold Commander colt after the Preakness and the Belmont.

No 3-year-old has won the Derby, Preakness and Belmont since Calumet Farm's Citation in 1948.

Foyt Working on His Stock Car Coyote

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — A. J. Foyt Jr., winner of two major stock car races this year in two different circuits, went back to work today tuning his non-stock Coyote for the 54th 500-mile race May 30 at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway.

Foyt won the NASCAR 500-mile race in January on the River side, Calif., road course. He won the Yankee 250 Sunday at Indianapolis Raceway Park.

The Houston, Tex., veteran, hoping to become the first four-time winner of the Speedway classic for big open cockpit cars, said, "I didn't come to finish second."

He was in no danger of finishing second Sunday at Raceway Park after veteran Don White of Keokuk, Iowa, blew an engine in his 1969 Dodge Daytona after 150 miles.

Foyt, driving the same 1970 Ford Torino in which he won at Riverside, finished about four miles in front of runnerup Roger McCluskey of Tucson, Ariz., the 1969 USAC stock car champion, who drove a new Plymouth Super Bird. His average speed was 83.839 m.p.h.

Only White gave Foyt much of an argument in the Yankee 250. They swapped the lead among early pit stops and White was 16 seconds ahead when his engine blew.

Norm Nelson of Racine, Wis., in a 1970 Plymouth Road Runner, was about seven miles behind Foyt in third place.

In another USAC race Sunday, a 40-lap sprint feature on the half-mile dirt track at Tri County Speedway in West Chester, Ohio, Carl Williams was the victor.

The driver from Kansas City, Mo., took the lead in the first lap and never relinquished it. He outdistanced Doc Dawson of Lima, Ohio, by about 10 car lengths.

USAC spring point leader Larry Dickson of Marietta, Ohio, finished behind Dawson.

On the NASCAR circuit, Tiny Lind of Cross, S.C., drove a 1970 Camaro to victory in the Model City 300 in Kingsport, Tenn., edging out Wayne Andrews, who was his toughest competition until Andres' 1970 Cougar spun out on a turn, costing him two laps.

Andrews, of Siler City, N.C., recovered to finish second, followed by Frank Sessoms from Darlington, S.C., in a 1969 Camaro.

Ted Tidwell of Augusta, Ga., in a Formula B, finished a mere half-second ahead of Asheville's Pete Feistmann driving a Formula Ford, to win the annual Chimney Rock (N.C.) Hill Climb. Charlotte's John Phelps, piloting a Sprite, came in third.

In racing abroad, two Porsche came in 1-2 in Sicily's 54th Targa Floria race. Winning drivers Jo Siffert of Switzerland and Brian Redman of England turned in a record 74.495 miles an hour. Second were Pedro Rodriguez of Mexico and Leo Kinnunen of Finland.

Scotland's Jackie Stewart, the reigning world auto racing champion, kept his Brabham BT-30 in the lead, finishing ahead of Maxwell Stewart of Australia and Kunlomi Nagamatsu to win the 186-mile Japan Automobile Federation Grand Prix.

A Formula Two race on the Nuerburgring Ring in Adenau, Germany, was won by Jochen Rindt of Austria, in a Lotus. Derek Bell of Britain, in a Brabham, finished second and Rolf Stommelen of West Germany, also in a Brabham, wound up third.

In Brands Hatch, England, Peter Gethin drove his McLaren-Chevrolet to victory in the Guards European Formula 5,000 championship race. Graham McCrae and H. Ganley finished second and third.

Knicks Just May Have the Big Problem

By KEN RAPPOPORT

Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Will Chamberlain's knees and Jerry West's thumb? Forget it, man, the New York Knicks could have a bigger problem.

While most people have been talking about Los Angeles' crippled stars, New York's Reed could have the most disabling injury as the teams meet tonight in game No. 5 of the National Basketball Association's title playoffs.

Reed's knees have been hurt more than has been publicized—and they almost kept him out of last Friday's 121-115 overtime loss to the Lakers which tied the best-of-7 game series at 2-2.

"I can only prescribe medication, whirlpool and sonic treatment at this stage," a team doctor said Sunday. "We'll just have to wait and see how it works out tomorrow." Reed missed practice Sunday and while both knees were bothering the Knicks' indestructible center, the right knee appeared to be the more tender of the two.

He needed heat treatment just before Friday's game in Los Angeles' Forum and probably would not have made it if the game wasn't held up 10 minutes for national television.

"The two days off may help me," he said Friday night after having a sub-par night with 23 points and 12 rebounds. He's been averaging 9.6 points and 17.5 caroms in the playoffs.

The painful knees are just another chapter in the injury-plagued playoffs for Reed, the Knicks' walking medical dictionary. He threw a scare into the New York camp earlier when he hurt his left shoulder, his shooting arm.

Reed has also been playing with two taped fingers on his left hand, injured earlier this year.

New York isn't the same team without him. The NBA's most valuable player has been the bulwark of the Knicks' charge toward their first title in history.

Los Angeles, which hasn't won since moving to the West Coast from Minneapolis, is having no small problems either with Chamberlain.

In fact, it's miraculous that he'll be playing in Madison Square Garden at all tonight—considering that he missed 70 games of the regular season after knee surgery.

Chamberlain rehabilitated himself in time to lead the Lakers into the finals, but it's obvious he isn't playing at full capacity. The big guy has trouble moving laterally and isn't taking many shots from outside.

But it's his rebounding ability the Lakers have been counting on—and getting.

West jammed the thumb on his left hand last Wednesday in the third game. There was some concern in Los Angeles over his ability to play Friday, but he came up with 37 points that broke the Knicks' back.

The two-day layoff helped all three stars for this game, sure to attract a full house of 19,500. The sixth game will be played Wednesday in Los Angeles and the seventh, if necessary, will be back in New York—both on national television.

Named Figure Skating Head

NEW YORK (AP) — Frederick C. LeFevre of Troy, Ohio, was elected president of U.S. Figure Skating Association at its annual meeting Sunday.

Elected vice presidents were Benjamin T. Wright, Belmont, Mass.; Howard G. Taylor, Wilmet Creek, Calif., and Dr. Gordon C. Brown, Ann Arbor, Mich.

Pacers Keep Knocking Off the Colonels

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — The Indiana Pacers, who made a habit of beating Kentucky during the regular American Basketball Association season, continued the practice by knocking off the Colonels 114-110 in the ABA Eastern Division's final playoff series Sunday.

The best-of-seven series now stands at two games to one with Indiana on top. The Pacers compiled a 9-2 record at Kentucky's expense during the season.

The series resumes Tuesday night in Indianapolis.

Fred Lewis, who led both team in scoring with 31 points, sank 17 shots from the free throw line including seven of the last nine points the Pacers scored.

Louie Dampier and Wayne

Chapman tied for high scoring honors for Kentucky with 22 points each.

The two teams tied the score 23 times during the contest.

The third game of the Western Division finals will be played tonight at Anaheim, Calif., with the Los Angeles Stars and the Denver Rockets tied at one victory apiece in their best-of-7 series.

Ashe Takes First Prize in Tennis

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Arthur Ashe won the $2,500 first prize in the Glenwood Manor Invitational tennis tournament Sunday with a 7-6, 6-1 victory over defending champion Clark Graebner in the finals.

Ashe, of Gum Spring, Va., is second-ranked nationally, and Graebner, of New York, is ranked fourth.

Kristy Pigeon of Danville, Calif., defeated Denise Carter of

Figures His Driving Key to Victory

PINEHURST, N.C. (AP) — "My driving was the key. I kept the ball in the middle of the fairway and kept the pressure on right from the start."

That's how Canadian Gary Cowan summed up his 5 and 4 victory over Dale Morey in Saturday's North and South Amateur Golf Tournament finals.

The 31-year-old Kitchener, Ontario, insurance salesman became the first foreign born player to win the 70-year-old classic with a display of brilliant golf that has had few equals over the 7,051-yard, par 72 No. 2 course of the Pinehurst Country Club.

Cowan was six under par for the 32 holes, a remarkable effort after a full week of dueling with the formidable old course which seldom played longer than it did last week.

For the 51-year-old Morey of High Point, N.C., there was consolation that he had played exceptionally well, far better than the score would indicate.

THE WELL CHILD

Infancy to Adulthood: Mother Is Child's Need By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.

With the approach of Mother's Day, let's take a close look at her role. An infant's mental and physical well-being have been shown to be dependent on a mother's love. When the baby is very small, it is essential to hold him close and keep up a gentle crooning. A certain amount of rocking and kissing also help to give him a sense of security and of belonging.

The newborn is completely dependent on the mother for feeding, bathing, dressing and changing. A happy mother makes a happy baby. As the child grows the mother must gradually curtail this dependence and help the child to stand on his own feet. A mother should never lose sight of the fact that an infant is not a toy or a pet but a potential adult who must be trained to take over adult responsibilities.

The mother who realizes this will always do for her child what is best for him rather than what is fun for herself.

Q—Our doctor has cautioned me against starting toilet training too early. What are the dangers and at what age do you recommend this training?

A—There is no harm in setting the baby at the age of 7 months on the potty every day in time to anticipate his bowel movement, so long as you express pleasure over the successes and refrain from showing displeasure over the failures. This is not voluntary control on the part of the child, but it is a step in the right direction.

By age 3, the child should be letting you know when he needs to go to stool, but an occasional lapse after this should not cause alarm. Mothers who show displeasure over a mishap or punish a child for it create a tension in the child. This may cause excessive holding back, followed by stools that are painful to pass. This will cause even greater holding back or it may cause resentment and spiteful soiling.

Voters Are Heard From—Yarborough Loses in Texas

The triumph of Senate liberals in twice blocking confirmation of Southern judges to a place on the United States Supreme Court apparently will be short-lived.

The public is beginning to be heard from—and what the liberals are hearing is bad news. The liberals' anchor man in Texas, Sen. Ralph W. Yarborough, was defeated for re-nomination in the Democratic primary Saturday by Lloyd M. Bentson, Jr., the latest count being 803,411 to 714,632.

Yarborough voted against confirmation of both Clement Haynsworth, Jr., and G. Harrold Carswell for the supreme court. Texas was disturbed also by the fact that Yarborough voted against a bill by the late Sen. Everett M. Dirksen to restore the right to have public prayer offered in the public schools.

But, finally, Yarborough lost much of his union labor support in the big-city voting, a vote that had been crucial in past victories. His opponent beat him in Beaumont and Orange in the Texas oil belt.

Nothing surprising about that. Labor may be organized for its own special purposes but it thinks and acts just like unorganized Americans when the issue is basic and national. Yarborough was defeated because he voted against judges who might have tempered a supreme court which has grown too radical, and voted against a bill which would have reversed the court's decision barring public school prayer.

Texas isn't all of America—but last Saturday's decision is an omen of how the political wind is blowing across the nation.

Tax Exemption for Churches Upheld

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court upheld today 7-1 the tax exemption of property used exclusively for religious purposes.

Chief Justice Warren E. Burger said tax exemption is not the kind of sponsorship of religion prohibited by the First Amendment to the Constitution. He said in American society there cannot be complete absence of all contact between church and state.

The important thing, the chief justice wrote, is that there be no real connection between tax exemption and establishment of religion. He said a New York lawyer, Frederick Walz, whose appeal attacked the exemption in his state, failed to establish any real connection.

Justice William O. Douglas dissented alone. He said the present involvement of government in religion may seem minimal. But, he said, he fears it is a long step down the path to government establishment of religion.

Burger wrote: "The grant of a tax exemption is not sponsorship since the government does not transfer part of its revenue to churches but simply abstains from demanding that the church support the state."

Wednesday Is Deadline for Week-End Items

This is a special notice to clubs, churches, and other organizations sending week-end announcement stories and pictures to The Star.

All stories and pictures announcing coming events expected to be published in Friday or Saturday editions must be delivered to the newspaper office Wednesday, or postmarked Wednesday night for delivery first thing Thursday morning — or management reserves the right to omit publication.

This 48-hour deadline is employed on advertising, and now we are forced to invoke it on news announcements — because organizations have gotten into the habit of waiting until Friday morning to swamp the news desk with more copy and pictures than can be handled on short notice.

GOPs Boosted by Defeat of Yarborough

By CARL P. LEUBSDORF
AP Political Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The defeat of veteran liberal Sen. Ralph Yarborough in the Texas Democratic primary has given the Republicans a boost in their drive to win control of the Senate.

Top Republican leaders in Texas, including Rep. George Bush who is the GOP senatorial candidate, said before the primary last Saturday they expected to have a more difficult time defeating Yarborough than his conservative challenger, former Rep. Lloyd Bentson Jr.

The reason is that previous Republican victories in Texas, primarily the two triumphs of Sen. John G. Tower, have only come when Democrats have nominated strongly conservative candidates, leading many liberals to vote for the Republican as the lesser of two evils.

Bentson's victory is likely to have a similar effect, especially since Yarborough was the leader of the state's liberal forces, and many of them will be out to get the man who knocked off their hero.

The Texas primary is only the first in a series of such contests that could have a significant role in determining whether Republicans make the net gain of seven seats which they need to win Senate control this year.

In Connecticut, Republicans figure the nomination of Democratic Sen. Thomas J. Dodd would greatly improve their chances in November. Dodd is opposed by three candidates in the June 26 Democratic convention, which could lead to the state's first Democratic primary in history in August. The Republican field is still wide open, but Rep. Lowell Weicker is considered the leading possible challenger.

In New Mexico, Republican Gov. David Cargo, a liberal, is involved in a difficult fight with conservative Anderson Carter in the June 2 primary for the nomination against Democratic Sen. Joseph Montoya. Cargo is generally considered the stronger candidate against Montoya if he can win his primary.

In New Jersey, Republicans consider the seat held by Democratic Sen. Harrison A. Williams Jr. vulnerable in the wake of disclosures of widespread Mafia influence throughout the state. Williams is being challenged.

Reapportionment Has Made Some Gains in the Nation's Suburbs

By MICHAEL J. SNIFFEN
Associated Press Writer
The nation's suburbs have gained as much as the big cities under the Supreme Court's one-man, one-vote decision. In some states, suburbs have taken legislative dominance directly from rural lawmakers, giving them a louder voice than the cities have.

The pattern emerges from a survey by Associated Press member newspapers in 25 states eight years after the court entered the political thicket of legislative reapportionment with its decision in the Tennessee case of Baker vs. Carr.

In 11 states, core cities made the most significant gains while in another 11 the suburbs did. But the suburban victory was greater than those figures indicate.

The decision came too late for the big cities of some states—even by 1960, population shifts to the suburbs were widespread. Some of the urban victories appear only temporary, based on 1960 population figures which don't reflect the fact that only the suburbs have been rapidly gaining population since then.

The real suburban victory, however, was in winning legislative representation proportionate to population so soon after the population arrived—a privilege the big cities were denied. New legislation attributable to reapportionment ranges from establishment of a cabinet-level department to aid urban areas

Overhaul of Immigration Laws Urged

By JOHN BECKLER
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Pressure is mounting in Congress for a sweeping overhaul of a five-year-old law that was supposed to open a new era in U.S. immigration policy.

Strong protest against the existing law by such long-time friends of the United States as Canada, Mexico and Ireland; complaints about excessive red tape, and clear signs that the law is not working as expected have produced a flood of proposed legislative remedies.

The latest proposal, offered by a key member of the House Immigration subcommittee, has a chief aim of lifting current restrictions on immigration from Canada and Mexico.

The bill by Rep. Peter W. Rodino Jr. also would make it easier for refugees from Communist nations to seek asylum in the United States, and would revise the present preference system for admitting immigrants.

"The time is come," says Rodino in a speech explaining his bill, "to stop procrastinating and recognize that our current immigration policy is alienating our friends and neighbors and creating chaos in the Western Hemisphere."

Rodino's remarks are strongly reminiscent of those heard five years ago when Congress was considering its first major change in immigration policy in 41 years. Those remarks were heeded and in October 1965 Congress passed a brand new immigration law.

The 1965 act eliminated the 1924-established quota system based on the national origins of the American people and designed to preserve the ethnic balance of the nation as it existed in 1890. Thus, England, Ger-

After Only 5 Days in Cambodia U.S. Troops Face Major Dilemmas

Editor's Note: American and Vietnamese ground forces have been engaged on major operations inside Cambodia for five days. Peter Arnett, who has covered the Vietnam war for The Associated Press for seven years, has visited all the operational areas in Cambodia and assesses the situation.

By PETER ARNETT
Associated Press Writer
WITH TASK FORCE SHOE-MAKER, Cambodia (AP)—After only five days in the new war theater of Cambodia, American troop commanders are faced with two major dilemmas.

One of them is military: Premature monsoon rains have washed out an important forward airstrip, and the hundreds of armored vehicles spearheading the American thrust are starting to bog down in some places.

The other is political: American ground troops who in Vietnam had trouble separating friend from foe among the civilian population now have a whole new set of problems in sorting out the Cambodians. U.S. air strikes have partially destroyed the plantation town of Mimot. Villages are being burned. Thousands of civilians are fleeing for their lives.

The immensity of the monsoon rains is of great worry to the operational commanders. Tactical planners apparently hoped for another six weeks of cloudless skies, but two inches of rain fell Sunday just over the border in South Vietnam's War Zone C, turning the red clay to instant mud.

The armored force of more than 700 tanks and tracked vehicles constitutes the bulk of the American effort inside Cambodia. Vietnam's mud has been a more formidable obstacle to American armor than the Viet Cong, and possibly because of the impending monsoons, American forces are dashing rapidly through the Cambodian countryside.

This rapid movement is one reason why the civilian population has become involved. The Fishhook region, which the Americans entered because they thought it contained the

Faubus Keeps Reporting Encouragement

HARRISON, Ark. (AP)—Former Gov. Orval E. Faubus said Saturday that if he continued to receive public support, he would be a candidate for governor this year.

In a televised program Friday, Faubus asked viewers to notify him of their support and to raise campaign money for him.

He said Saturday that he had received "several hundred" responses from persons who supported him.

Faubus said he had received heavy support from the Central Arkansas counties, including Pulaski, Jefferson and Garland. He said response was also heavy from Sebastian County.

Mild Days and Cool Nights Are Predicted

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Mild days and cool nights were expected to continue in Arkansas as the state's weather continued under the influence of a high pressure center which was over Texas this morning.

Temperatures were mainly in the 40s and 50s this morning. The extended outlook called for dry and mild weather through Wednesday with the possibility of showers by Thursday and Friday.

Highs Sunday ranged from 70 at Pine Bluff to 82 at Texarkana.

Overnight lows included 43 at Fayetteville, 52 at Harrison, 53 at Jonesboro, 48 at Pine Bluff, 51 at Texarkana, 43 at El Dorado, 47 at Memphis and Little Rock and 48 at Fort Smith.

No precipitation was reported in the 24-hour period which ended at 7 a.m. today.

headquarters for all Communist activities in South Vietnam, is only lightly populated. Then the Americans pushed north to Route 7 and beyond, and now they are among rubber plantation hamlets and farms.

The pattern of Vietnam is being repeated. The American troops are putting the torch to homes because they may be useful to the Communists. Live-stock are shot for the same reason. Palls of smoke rose over the region on Sunday. Clusters of houses smoldered.

"I had orders to burn everything," said one young tank commander whose force had just driven through two hamlets and burned both of them.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon announced today an end to a series of heavy U.S. air attacks against North Vietnamese missile and antiaircraft installations but said such raids may be resumed if necessary.

Daniel Z. Henkin, calling the attacks "reinforced protective reaction strikes," said the missions were successful in knocking out a number of antiaircraft facilities that had endangered unarmed U.S. reconnaissance planes.

Henkin is assistant secretary of defense for public affairs. His words supported the Nixon administration's contention that the air raids against North Vietnam, like the attack by U.S. ground forces into Cambodia, are not an escalation of the Southeast Asia war.

"I want to inform you that these reinforced protective reaction strikes, which were all that were planned, have been terminated," Henkin told Pentagon newsmen.

He announced end to the raids, at least temporarily, came after North Vietnamese delegates at the Paris peace talks complained that the attacks violated the American commitment to halt all bombing of Vietnamese territory in November 1968.

Local truck operators and others interested may bid on a Post Office mail carrying star route between Lewisville, Arkansas and Doddridge, Arkansas. The contract will require one small truck of 200 cubic feet capacity. This small size truck will run daily except Sunday and holidays. For detailed information regarding type of truck required, to secure necessary bid forms, and for instructions on how to meet the $4,600.00 bond requirement, interested persons should contact the Postmaster at Lewisville, Arkansas.

Fifty-six Hope residents are among 2,042 students currently enrolled at Southern State College, according to James L. Smyth, registrar.

Six persons lost their lives on Arkansas' highways this past weekend.

Police said James Cooper, 14, of Harrison was killed Sunday afternoon south of Harrison on Arkansas 7 when his motorcycle slammed into the rear of a pickup truck at the crest of a hill.

Two Woodruff County youths died in a one-car crash on Arkansas 33 near Augusta Sunday.

Police identified the victims as Mary Hadden, 16, of McCrory and David Turner, 16, of Augusta.

Authorities said Clifford Hill, 22, of Waldron was killed Sunday on U.S. 71 near Waldron when he lost control of his car.

Elections in Some States Tues.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The 1970 election campaign moves into high speed Tuesday when George C. Wallace tries to regain the Alabama governor's chair in a tight race, possibly hinging on the black vote, and a star-studded field vies in Ohio's senatorial primary.

The races in both states are rated tossups and have important national impact. A Wallace defeat in the Democratic primary against Gov. Albert Brewer could dull his national political image. The Ohio race will decide a general election lineup that could be important in the fight for control on the Senate.

In Saturday's Democratic primary in Texas, Republicans gained a boost in the drive to take over the Senate. Sen. Ralph Yarborough post to his conservative challenger, former Rep. Lloyd Bentson Jr., a man the GOP says it will have an easier time defeating.

Black leaders in Alabama claim Negroes will decide whether Wallace or Brewer will be elected governor in Tuesday's primary—or a June 2 runoff, if one is needed.

Wallace, putting his political reputation on the line, gained ground on Brewer in the final weeks of the campaign. About 1.2 million votes are expected to turn out—80 per cent of those registered.

A neck-and-neck finish is also predicted in Ohio's senatorial primary which features the glamour of famous names.

Ohio Democrats will choose from among four candidates, including John Glenn, 48, the first American to orbit the earth. He's rated running even with

G&F Group Threatened With Lawsuit

PINE BLUFF, Ark. (AP) — The state Game and Fish Commission has been threatened with a law suit if it continues to refuse to pay an assessment to the Salt Bayou District Commission.

The assessment is for improvements in a drainage ditch in Jefferson County, which dumps into the Bayou Meto public shooting ground in Arkansas County. The shooting ground is owned by the Game and Fish Commission.

Game and Fish Commission authorities refused to pay the 1968 assessment because they maintain that proper notice of the bond election was not given.

However, a spokesman for the Salt Bayou commission said in a meeting here Sunday notice was given through legal newspaper advertising.

Attorneys for the Salt Bayou commission said Sunday that if the assessment is not paid, legal action will be taken.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration maintains that new air raids against North Vietnam, like the attacks by U.S. ground forces into Cambodia, are not an escalation of the war in Southeast Asia. Vice President Spiro T. Agnew called the weekend flights "protective reaction" in a statement made Sunday. Meanwhile, the Senate Foreign Relations Committee has been called into session to determine the members' wishes on a proposed face-to-face meeting with the President.

Campus newspapers across the country are calling for a nationwide student strike to protest American military actions in Cambodia and the recent bombing of North Vietnam.

SAIGON (AP)—High officials say American and South Vietnamese troops will soon launch new offensives into Cambodia to smash more North Vietnamese and Viet Cong base camps.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The defeat of veteran liberal Sen. Ralph Yarborough in the Texas Democratic primary is considered a boost for Republican hopes to gain a majority in the Senate. Top GOP leaders in the state feel their candidate will have less trouble beating the primary winner—a conservative—than they would have had with Yarborough.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government is considering proposals to triple the iron content of enriched bread in an effort to combat anemia produced in women and many children, particularly among the poor.

Search Kept Up for Plane Down at Sea

SAN JUAN, P.R. (AP)—The U.S. Coast Guard kept up its search today for 21 passengers and one crew member missing from a jetliner that ditched in the Caribbean Saturday during a driving rainstorm.

There were 40 known survivors and one known dead. Most of the passengers were vacationers from the New York area.

There was speculation that the 21 missing had gone to the bottom with the plane's fuselage. But a Coast Guard spokesman said: "We're not giving up on the missing."

The DC9, leased by the Dutch Antillean Airline from Overseas National Airways, was bound from New York to St. Martin, in the Leeward Islands 200 miles west of San Juan.

The plane circled St. Martin four times but was not able to land because of poor visibility, said Roger Schmidt, 52, a passenger from New York City.

Capt. Halsey DeWitt of Hope-Well Junction, N.Y., one of the four crew members who survived, then headed for St. Croix, in the Virgin Islands, but ran out of fuel before he could reach it. He radioed that he was ditching.

Two Escape From a Prison Bus

NORTH LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Tucker Prison Farm authorities said two inmates escaped Sunday from a prison bus in North Little Rock.

Officials said the two inmates were part of a prison band that had been performing in Hot Springs. A spokesman said there was a car waiting for the two inmates but declined to comment further.

The inmates were identified as Benny Stubbs, 23, of Atkins and Leon Whitfield, 25, of Merced, Calif.

Stubbs was serving 5-7 years from Pope County for burglary and grand larceny. Whitfield was serving five years from Sebastian County for burglary and grand larceny.

panied by some form of crisis. The child may be cranky, or the parent worried about bills. In such events, the parent who is prone to child beating is incapable of finding any release. He doesn't know or doesn't care to seek outside help. And thus he takes his frustrations out on his baby.

Given these clear traits of child abusers, Drs. Helfer, Joyner and others believe it's possible to forecast child abuse before it happens.

If hospitals, social workers, cops on the beat, even laymen in America's neighborhoods, were educated to the facts of child beating, many brutalities might be stopped or at least kept to a minimum.

Pediatricians feel it's worth more study and consideration. They say that right now most battered children can be saved, by way of the law, from the savagery and sickness of their abusing parents. How much better it would be if, by way of the hospitals, the parents could be saved, too.

Bruins Plan to Go Right on Playing Orr

By PAUL LE BAR
Associated Press Sports Writer
ST. LOUIS (AP) — A defeat in the series opener notwithstanding, the St. Louis Blues say they plan to continue shadowing hockey's fabled Bobby Orr through the Stanley Cup finals.

Blues' Coach Scotty Bowman, his team blistered 6-1 by Orr's Boston Bruins' teammates Sunday, said the strategy will stick "right to the end."

"Why?" he asked. "Because when Orr's on the ice, he controls the game. I'd rather play their four against our two if Orr wasn't around."

Orr was harassed at every turn Sunday by St. Louis wings, causing the rest of the bruising Bruins to bide time until late.

Then Wayne Carleton flipped a shot over Ernie Wakeley's right foot with 4:59 gone in the third period for a 3-1 lead, and the Bruins were off.

Stocky left wing Johnny Bucyk rebounded a John McKenzie shot for his third goal and the prestigious hat trick 32 seconds later.

Increasingly less organized as the game opened up, St. Louis defenses were penetrated late by Derek Sanderson, who scored on a rink's length breakaway, and Phil Esposito, who scored unassisted.

Sanderson's goal was the only one assisted on by Orr, who commented, "I could have gone out for lunch."

"Naturally, I'd like more room," said Bobby, who was stalked by Blues' right wingers Jim Roberts, Tim Ecclestone and Terry Crisp.

"I didn't feel like I was doing very much out there, but I don't think they can afford to do what they were doing anymore."

"When they shadow Bobby," reminded Bucyk, "that's like giving us a 4-3 advantage."

Bucyk, enjoying one of his best of 15 seasons in the National Hockey League, had opened the Bruins scoring by firing past a screened Jacques Plante.

Marine Dies in Camp After Only 6 Days

LAKE WORTH, Fla. (AP) — For four years George Girot was 4-F in the draft with a rheumatic heart and a crippled hand. Twelve days after he received a 1-A rating in a new physical examination he dropped dead of a heart attack at a Marine Corps boot camp.

Girot, a Marine for six days, man.

The case will be heard today in the U.S. Supreme Court.

Some observers feel that the case, which involves the legality of the death penalty in certain instances, is the most important case of criminal law in the United States Supreme Court's history.

"In a case of this importance, I think the people of Arkansas should be represented by their attorney general," Purcell said.

He had said several weeks ago that Don Langston, a former deputy attorney general would handle the case. Purcell said Sunday that he will assist Langston.

If Maxwell wins, death sentences of about 70 other persons in the nation could be set aside.

was to be buried today.

The handsome 22-year-old youth joined the Marines after he voluntarily took the new physical, passed it and became eligible for the draft.

His mother, Elizabeth Girot, said he took the examination after four years of being unfit for military service. He wanted to learn a trade and figured the Marines would give him the best chance.

He did not detail his medical history on Marine forms at the Parris Island, S.C., training camp, authorities said.

His death has sparked an investigation by Rep. Paul G. Rogers, D-Fla.

"Something like this should not happen again," Rogers said. Girot became 1-A April 17. He then enlisted, and shipped out for boot camp April 24.

"He told me he wanted to go into the Marine Corps rather than be drafted," his widowed mother said. "He couldn't do many push-ups, he couldn't even jog around the block without getting out of breath."

The young soldier spent his first three days at Parris Island in routine processing. Last Wednesday was his first day of basic training, and he did push-ups and sit-ups with the rest of his training company.

On the way back to his barracks he collapsed and died de-

Man Wanted for Kidnaping Is Captured

EL DORADO, Ark. (AP) — El Dorado authorities said Saturday that a man wanted in connection with the kidnaping of an El Dorado woman and her daughter April 23 is being held by Texas authorities.

Police Chief R. E. Pennington said that Larry Dean Rains, 24, was arrested late Friday in Abilene, Tex.

Rains allegedly forced Mrs. Mary Anderson, 33, and her daughter, Deborah Ann Garrett, 13, to drive from an El Dorado shopping center to Texarkana. They were released unharmed.

spite mouth-to-mouth resuscitation and heart massage, the Marine Corps said.

Mrs. Girot said she later received a letter from her son, mailed the day before he died in which he complained of feeling sick when he participated in regular morning drills.

Capt. M. R. Arnold, a Marine spokesman at Parris Island, said the husky youth had not complained about his treatment and had not mentioned his disabilities.

Beaten Children Need Help, but So Do Their Abusive Parents

By TOM TIEDE

NEW YORK—(NEA)—The other evening a two-year-old child was admitted to a Manhattan hospital with one arm broken, both eyes blackened, cigarette burns on his shoulders and the look of starvation about the entire body.

The child had been tortured by his parents.

Nothing entirely extraordinary, actually. Some 2,000 cases of battered children are reported in New York City each year. And the estimated child abuse rate for the nation is 250 per million people, or more than 50,000 annually.

So, question: What should the authorities, acting in behalf of the child and society at large, do with men and women who commit such crimes?

Most of us would probably answer in anger. Arrest them, toss them in prison—and never again permit them to live with or even see their infant victims.

But according to growing numbers of pediatricians, this reaction may be the worst thing authorities might do. Instead, doctors believe that such parents are not so much sadists as they are emotionally sick, and therefore, therapy and family counseling are more justified than jail.

The physicians feel this isn't bleeding heart psychiatry. Rather, just good sociological sense. Because, they say, rehabilitating the parents is often the best thing that can be done for the children themselves.

Dr. Edmund Joyner, chairman of the Department of Pediatrics at Roosevelt Hospital, sums up the whole principle:

"One thing I've learned in treating hundreds of battered children is that they still love and need their parents—just like any other kids. After they've been healed here at the hospital, and their parents come to take them home, they don't act frightened. They run like crazy to give mom and dad a big hug. They don't want to be taken away, or put in a children's shelter. Despite everything, they want to continue living at home."

Joyner qualifies his remarks by noting that some children can't continue to live at home and that some parents are beyond help. He cites an example of a woman who beat her daughter because she thought the child had been raped and "in accordance with God's law" she was beating the evil away. Psychotics like this, says Joyner, are too dangerous to be reunited with children.

But such psychotics are apparently rare. Studies of child abusers indicate most parents of the type are disturbed only to the extent they can't help themselves—and thus may be redirected if help from the outside is provided.

Dr. Ray Helfer, of New York's Catholic Medical Center, is perhaps the nation's foremost authority on battered children and battering parents. He has probed thousands of cases and is into his second book on the subject.

He's convinced that helping the parents, like treating the children, must be a regular part of hospital work. And he believes such work is made easier because all such parents tend to follow a regular, identifiable pattern.

Says he, sketching it: "Almost all abusing parents have histories of parental neglect themselves. So, never having had normal family affection themselves, they expect much more of it from children of their own. If they don't get it, then they strike back, usually at small children (five and below, because the age group can't testify) and often at only one target child in their litter."

Helfer insists this pattern of parental history is so clear that he can predict, by asking questions, which parents are prone to abuse. He says normally reared parents almost never brutalize their kids. Mixed couples (one abnormally raised) will follow the lead of whichever is the dominant mate. But two brutally raised parents will invariably brutalize their kids.

The doctor further feels that child abuse usually does not take place unless accom-

Would Triple Amount of Iron in Bread

By G. DAVID WALLACE
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The government proposes tripling the amount of iron in enriched bread to combat fatigue and low resistance to disease which iron deficiency anemia produced in many women and children, particularly the poor. Specialists have yet to firmly estimate how widespread iron deficiency is.

But Dr. Philip L. White, secretary of the American Medical Association's council on food and nutrition, said "Iron deficiency anemia is one of the major nutritional problems of teenage girls, and indeed adult women as well." In testimony to the select Senate Committee on Nutrition and Human Needs.

The Agriculture Department surveyed diets of 15,000 persons one day in 1965. It found that 23 per cent of boys 12 to 14, and 38 per cent of women and girls 9 to 54 received less than recommended allowances of iron. White and the Agriculture Department both found these conditions especially affected the poor.

One irony of iron deficiency is that as the nation's technology advances, the iron content of the diet diminishes.

Because iron speeds oxidation — and thus food spoilage — processors have become increasingly efficient at eliminating iron from food.

Bleaching and processing bread flour, for instance, reduces its iron content by more than two-thirds.

The primary sources of iron are bread and meat.

Little can be done to enrich the iron content of meat. That's one reason the Food and Drug Administration, at the urging of the National Academy of Sciences and the baking and milling industry, has proposed that the amount of iron added to enriched bread and flour be tripled.

The Food and Nutrition Board of the National Academy of Sciences has also proposed enrichment for cereal grains, but no action has been taken on these proposals.

The recommended daily iron requirements for adult men and women is from 5 to 10 milligrams. The daily requirement for women during menstruation jumps to the 7 to 20 milligram range. For adolescents the requirement is 10 to 20 milligrams. And for pregnant women the requirement is 20 to 48 milligrams, which can be satisfied only with special supplements.

Extended or severe iron shortage leads to anemia, constant fatigue and increased susceptibility to disease.

The FDA presently limits the amount of iron in a one-pound loaf of enriched bread to from 13 to 16.5 milligrams. The amount of iron permitted in enriched flour is from 8 to 12.5 milligrams per pound.

In response to the bakers' proposal, the FDA has proposed changing the tolerances to 50 to 60 milligrams for enriched bread and 32 to 38 milligrams for enriched flour. Standard bread and flour would not be affected, bakers and millers say the changes would not affect the taste, texture or appearance of bread.

Conversely, the FDA still has before it a four-year-old proposal to limit the amount of iron in fortified cereals to 1.5 milligrams per one-ounce serving. Some popular brands of raisin bran, bran flakes and highly fortified cereals have substantially more than 1.5 milligrams

2,500 Guards Ordered Back to Homes

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — Some 2,500 National Guardsmen sent to keep peace at a weekend rally supporting the Black Panthers have been ordered back to their homes without going into action.

The Guardsmen began leaving the city Sunday night along with the last of the thousands of demonstrators, most of them young, who took part in open air rallies Friday and Saturday.

Tension was high at the beginning of the weekend. But despite rumors of guns and explosives and heavy doses of revolutionary rhetoric, the rallies brought little disorder.

The Panthers and allied groups who sponsored the rallies claimed the police and military buildups and fear of violence cut the turnouts from the expected 35,000 or more. Police estimated there were 12,000 to 15,000 rallygoers Friday and 6,000 to 8,000 Saturday.

Nevertheless, Bruce Allen of the Yale Strike Steering Committee called the weekend "a political success."

Yale had no official part in the rallies but the students voted to open the university to visitors and provided shelter, rooms for workshop groups, meals of rice and health cereal, rock music, medical and legal aid, and yellow headbanded marshals for crowd control.

About 60 per cent of Yale's student body stayed for the weekend. Many said they did so to act as a moderating influence.

Despite the efforts of marshals and Black Panthers, there were minor clashes between authorities and small groups of youths Friday and Saturday nights. Tear gas drifted through the Ivy League campus and bombs caused minor damage to a skating rink.

MGM Has Some Famous Things for Sale

By GENE HANDSAKER
Associated Press Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Want a train, a riverboat, a covered wagon? Or Liz Taylor's wedding gown from "Father of the Bride"? They're for sale at MGM Studio where thousands of old movie-making treasures went on the auction block Sunday.

Debbie Reynolds, pouting prettily when outbid, bought $3,050 worth of film furniture for a Hollywood hall of fame she hopes to start. Its proceeds would benefit the Motion Picture Relief Fund for needy film people.

A San Francisco antique dealer, Leslie Robinson, 28, made the afternoon's top bid — $8,750 for a carved settee and four armchairs from the movie "Marie Antoinette." His purchases, including a few for friends, totaled $30,350.

A source estimated the first session's take at $200,000. The auction will last 18 days. The cheapest buy was a white and gold coffee table for $35. The first item sold, a cut crystal decanter, went to Tom Harzog, 32, for $90. The Memphis investor flew here with his wife Joy for the auction.

"It's a beautiful piece of crystal," he said, "and I thought it would be fun to get the first item sold." About 3,000 bidders and on-lookers on folding chairs nearly filled enormous Stage 27. An additional 2,000 roamed the sprawling lot's auction displays or watched the proceedings by closed circuit television on another stage.

David Weisz, the auctioneer, bought the approximate 25,000 props and 35,000 costumes from MGM in January for an undisclosed price. Trade paper speculation has put the figure at $1.5 million to $3 million.

MGM's new management says the studio no longer needs the gear for the movies it makes today. Also for sale are about 130 acres of its two back lots.

Stars present besides Miss Reynolds included Dale Robertson, Rock Hudson, Nanette Fabray and Shirley Jones.

World's greatest television tower is that atop the Empire State building—1,472 feet high.

Brooks Among 7 Arrested at Strong

STRONG, Ark. (AP) — The Rev. Cato Brooks, field director of Community Organizations Methods Build Absolute Teamwork (COMBATs), was among seven persons arrested here Saturday. The arrests came as about 225 persons attempted to march into the city without a parade permit.

Mayor Mayo Stevens said the seven were arrested for parading without a permit and were released after each posted a $25 bond. Stevens said Friday that the parade permit for the "march against fear" had been denied.

The marchers were met by Stevens and several law enforcement officers as they approached the city limits.

Brooks ignored police orders saying, "I take orders from God, I don't take orders from men."

The seven persons were taken into custody, but the remaining marchers were allowed to continue their march to city hall where they heard speeches and sang. Brooks said that a similar march would be held Saturday at Cotton Plant. Another march across Woodruff County is set for May 24.

Will Announce Pulitzer Prize Winners

NEW YORK (AP) — Winners of the 54th annual Pulitzer prizes in journalism, letters, drama and music are announced today by Andrew W. Cordier, president of Columbia University.

Entries in the book divisions totaled 459, the university said, a field exceeded in size only by the 492 submitted last year.

The five prizes for books and the 10 journalism prizes cover works presented in 1969. The drama and music prizes are for works produced during the 12 months ended March 31.

There were 700 displays entered in journalism, the university said, the most in 10 years. Included were 83 in a new category for "distinguished criticism or commentary."

Thinks AIP Candidates Can Save U.S.

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — William J. Davis of Covington, Tenn., vice chairman of the American Independent Party, told members of the American Party of Arkansas that the nation was headed for ruin unless AIP candidates were elected to political office.

About 150 persons attended the $25-a-couple fund-raising dinner here Saturday.

Davis said the Nixon administration was "far worse" than the administration of former President Lyndon B. Johnson.

Davis said Nixon's action in sending troops into Cambodia was an attempt to draw attention from domestic and economic problems.

Davis criticized the federal government's welfare program, the Supreme Court and "those sorry congressmen" interested only in promoting their own reelection.

based on 1960 Census figures and failed to reflect the continued mushrooming of suburbs after that date.

Connecticut, where the big cities picked up major blocks of votes after the 1965 reapportionment, saw several major bills passed as a result.

Formerly the town of Union with 500 people had two House members as did Hartford with 163,000 people. Now Union is lumped in a district with three other towns, and Hartford has 10 representatives.

As a result, the state share of local welfare costs was hiked from 50 to 75 per cent, a community affairs department with a multimillion dollar program to aid cities was established and both the school and road aid formulas were revised to aid inner cities.

Redistricting brought about an even rural-urban split in Texas, but one result was passage of the first state minimum wage law last year.

Urban counties in Florida supplanted the "pork chop" gang, which had achieved legislative majorities while representing 18 per cent of the voters. Legislative action ensued on consolidation of city and county services, pollution control, planning, zoning and home rule, all bills that observers say might never have gotten out of committee without the aid of reapportionment.

After the "crabgrass containment" replaced the "cornstalk" brigade in Ohio perennially unsuccessful legislation was approved to dilute a statewide ban on sale of liquor by the drink on Sunday, a move long sought by the more populated areas.

But not everywhere have the results been so favorable to non-rural interests.

A 1964 reapportionment in Virginia shifted just 11 legislators—three senators and eight delegates—from the rural to city-suburban column, and the populous Northern Virginia and Tidewater counties still control only one-third of the seats in the legislature.

The suburbs came out on top after a handful of reapportionment battles in New Jersey, and last year nearly all the lawmakers were ready to increase state aid to education, in which New Jersey ranked well in the bottom half of the nation.

The urban lawmakers sought a reform of the formula weighted in favor of impoverished core cities, but the suburbanites prevailed. A $25 per pupil increase was granted across the board—whether the pupil was in nearly bankrupt Newark or the upper class suburb of Short Hills.

Florida weathered two reapportionments with "grandfather" clauses allowing rural legislators whose districts had been wiped out to complete their terms. In places like Missouri, where reapportionment handed the House leadership from rural to urban legislators, division between cities and between cities and suburbs left the balance of power with rural lawmakers.

In Indiana, legislators from the cities of Gary, Hammond, East Chicago and South Bend are Democrats and those from Indianapolis and Ft. Wayne are Republicans. So far they've rarely cooperated.

Similar stalemates and unusual coalitions maintain rural lower in the Michigan, Maryland and Washington State Houses.
